Memories Live Forever! It's hard to say good-bye to someone that you love, although you know they're safe with Jesus up above. It doesn't make a difference if they're in their later years. It only means more memories to carry through the tears. Don't let yourselves forget, we each have numbered days. For reasons that we do not know God wanted it this way. Tears wash away the pain, but it can't remove the love. The memories live forever safe in God's hands above. So today we give thanks for the lives we chance to share. No matter if they're short or long, God always will be there.

Dearest Tom & Marie... I know that you hear an echo of this in heaven's halls where you are undoubtedly running hand in hand discovering new lands that are created before your eyes as you think them into being... sparkling slopes of snow... crashing waves on a sun bleached sand shore... rich mountain passes of green... music...and oh the music... I can see you ballroom dancing as you must have done in the dawn of courtships ray... 20 something kids... sparkling eyes. Well gotta go... you know how earth is (or was) always something needing done! Keep the waves crashing... the dance going. See you soon in a land that is fairer than day. Amen - Mark & Lisa

Although I never had the pleasure of meeting Marie Taylor, I was blessed to attend college with one of her lovely daughters, Emilie.After re-connecting with Emilie recently online, I was indirectly introduced to her lovely mother. It was evident that Emilie loved her precious Mom with all of her heart and that they held a very close bond. Reminded me of my special bond with my own precious Mom, who is now gone from us as well. Dear Emilie, I pray God's strength and peace as the days pass.. May your wonderful memories help to carry you through until you meet her again.. Much love and prayers.. Melinda
