Still at a loss for words, Aunt Mary. Mom and I have been nonstop talking about you and looking at old photos. I remember having so much fun with you all when we went to visit Florida, but when Mom told me that you left Deltona and drove to Georgia just to spend my first Christmas with me I lost it. You loved us all so much and we loved you right back! As the biggest Patriots fan in the family, I am glad we lost the Super Bowl now. Knowing you got to see your Eagles win and have their parade makes me so happy cause I know it made you so happy. I know you're looking down on everyone and that we will see you again one day. Love you

I was privileged to meet Mary through her sister Liz. Although I only spent time with her a few times, I will always remember the warmth of her welcoming smile and wonderful sense of humor. My sincere condolences to her family and friends.

I'm at a loss for words. You were the very first person we met when we moved in over here. You were always the one I went to when mom was sick and went through all her surgeries with her kidneys. I remember being pregnant with Amber and I will never forget the first time I left her with you or with anyone. I called you like every hour to check up on her and you said she is fine. You always made everyone laugh and you were always there for us. I still can't believe you are not with us anymore. I love you aunt Mary you were such a great lady and you always had a smile on your face. I still think it's just a dream it doesn't feel real. I love you aunt Mary till we meet again. Say hi to everyone up there.

I was so fortunate to meet Mary through her sister Liz. Mary would always make me laugh and anyone that was around her laugh. She is painless and at peace now. Her family can have comfort in knowing that she is free from her hurt and pain. The light of the candle will shine forever.
